ALLIES SUPREMACY IN THE AIR DEMONSTRATED DURING WEEK

Gen. Foch Takes 5,000 German Prisoners as Result of Local Attacks.

Except North of Albert All German Counter-Attacks Have Been Unsuccessful.

Allies Have Measurably Improved Positions During the Week While Waiting For the Next German Attack.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Successful allied thrusts in local actions have not yet drawn from the enemy a resumption of his strong offensive movements but there is little doubt that another German blow is in the making. But for the moment a lull has come in infantry action on the western front.

Another strong effort, probably greater than any this year, has been awaited by the allies for several weeks.

General Foch has employed the past week very successfully by improving his positions at various points along the Marne front with British and French helping in taking valuable ground and more than 5,000 prisoners from the enemy.

Except north of Albert where the Germans regained some ground the enemy has not been successful in attempted counter attacks.

Australian and American forces hold strongly to the recent gains south of the Somme and the French are improving the ground taken north of the Aisne.

British airmen alone have accounted for 195 German machines during the past week, while 52 of their own machines failed to return.

Fighting activity on the Italian front is becoming more general but it is not very severe at any one point.

Another American transport has been sunk by a German submarine while returning from Europe. The vessel, the Covington, remained afloat for several hours and only 6 men are missing.

FIGHT LINE TROOPS ARE INCREASING

General March Makes Report To The Senate Military Committee.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, July 6.—American troops on the fighting line in Europe numbered 251,000 about June 1, according to information given today by Chief of Staff General March, and other members of the war council at their weekly conference with members of the Senate Military Committee.

This was the high water mark for the United States in its front line participation, the Senators were told. But of the million odd Americans now overseas or enroute, a substantial portion soon will be trained enough to insure a steady and large increase for the combat trenches.

DELAY MEANS PREPARATIONS FOR OFFENSIVE

General March States 300,000 More Men Will be Called Out In August.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, July 6.—The present delay of the Germans in France means only that they are preparing new and heavy blows, General March said today in his weekly conference with newspaper men.

"It is evident," he said, "that this delay is preparatory to a heavy assault in force by the German high command. The present condition of affairs does not mean anything but that they are reorganizing their troops, filling up losses and preparing to try again."

"With reference to the American program we have embarked a million men and are now going after the second million."

Statements of the draft program made public today indicated calling out at least 300,000 during August, although subsequent calls during the year were not expected to exceed one-half that figure monthly.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY PEOPLE DROWNED OR TRAMPLED TO DEATH

Excursion Steamer Carrying 500 Human Beings Strikes Obstruction In Illinois River

Panic Follows and Many Frantic Men, Women and Children Leaped Into the River and Drowned

Scores More Trampled Under the Feet of the Terror Stricken Who Sought to Save Themselves

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Peoria, Ill., July 6.—Approximately 150 people were drowned or trampled to death at midnight last night when the excursion steamer Columbia carrying more than 500 persons struck an obstruction in the Illinois river and sank.

The excursion party started from Pekin, 15 miles from here, early in the evening and spent several hours at an amusement park near this city. When the return trip was about half completed the boat ran into an obstruction on the Peoria shore during a fog, smashing a big hole in her bow. The vessel sank within a few minutes, carrying many persons down.

Soon after the boat struck a panic occurred on the vessel and many men, women and children jumped into the river without life preservers. Those who could swim reached shore only a few feet away.

The second deck of the boat where the dance hall is located was crowded when the crash came and it was here that many were crushed to death in the panic.

RESCUE WORK BEING RUSHED

Survivors charged the steamer ran on a sandbar and did not hit a sunken log as first reported.

It was declared that the boat, although within ten feet of shore, was backed out into deep water without waiting to ascertain the extent of the damage. As the boat reached mid-stream she broke in two and sank.

CHAUTAUQUA SESSION OF MUCH INTEREST

Friday afternoon the rest afternoon of the chautauqua, was devoted to government work, with Miss Barnes, assistant national secretary, Young Women's Christian Association, making one of the finest addresses of the entire chautauqua and Miss Graber, of the Ohio University Extension Department, giving a demonstration on conservation of foods.

It was to be greatly regretted that the big chautauqua tent was not crowded for Miss Barnes is not only a fluent and magnetic speaker, she is also just back from overseas and her message was one of absorbing interest.

Her subject was "The Second Line of Defense"—women's work in the war, especially touching upon that of her own personal effort, Y. W. C. A. work. For the past three years Miss Barnes has been under the English flag, traveling through neutral countries making investigations and spending a large part of this time working with the women of Australia and New Zealand.

Miss Barnes made the statement that we have, replacing men in war work in this country, one million women against several times that number in England and France.

These women are as much in need of care and recreation as the men in the army, and are doing work just as important. If the women of Europe engaged in war work factories stopped working for four days, men would have to withdraw from the trenches or suffer lack of uniforms and ammunition.

Consequently the Y. W. C. A. is engaged in the erection of Y. W. C. A. huts, recreation and rest places for women engaged in munition and other work of the kind.

Miss Barnes entered fully into the necessity of these huts and also of the 84 community houses established at the different camps, 20 of which are for colored women.

The address was informative and a spur to every woman to put forth her best effort in whatever line of war work comes to her hand.

Miss Graber gave an excellent demonstration and a bulletin of receipts which women may use to advantage in their efforts to conserve.

There was much interest in the opening of Child Health headquarters on the grounds. Mrs. George B. Franklin postponed her address until Sunday afternoon, when she will present it just before the regular program.

FAMOUS RIDERS COMING MONDAY

It's the circus that is the question of the hour, at least for the kiddies—and who is not young on circus day? The broadspread and flaming announcements have, no doubt, prepared you for the advent of the big Coop and Lent Circus, with its many sensational features, not the least of which is to be the gorgeous glittering modern motorized street pageant. Coop and Lent' big three ring circus and menagerie and city of white tents will appear in Washington, Monday, July 8th. Coop and Lent's biggest endeavor is the first and only enormous show to utilize the auto trucks as motive power, thus assuring the great public that all dates, will be filled as advertised, and that all promises will be faithfully kept. Among the great array of circus talent there is one deserving of unstinted and unrestrained praise—that one is dainty, dashing Dottie Julian in a most daring equestrian act that has made vast crowds hold their breath, and then burst forth in mighty applause. Miss Julian is worthy of the stellar honors with the Coop and Lent shows and her equal is not to be found with any other circus. It is the policy of Coop and Lent to have something better and bigger than any other big show, consequently every act engaged is a feature in their particular line. The first new feature is the ninety-six immense auto trucks and trailers to transport the mighty circus and its army of employees across the continent, and this feature alone will draw thousands of country folk to each city visited. The great menagerie is another feature, and no child should be deprived of this opportunity to receive a lesson in Natural History. Keep in mind the grandest of street parades which will start at 10:30 a. m.

WAR EXHIBITS AT OHIO STATE FAIR

Eight thousand square feet of floor space will be required for the federal government's war exhibits at the Ohio State Fair the last week in August. Half of the east wing of the administration building was taken over for the exhibits by A. A. Ormsby, government agent who has been in Columbus.

The exhibits will represent the war activities of the departments of war, navy, agricultural, commerce, interior, the food administration and the committee on public information. Half of the space will be occupied by the war and navy departments in the showing of modern guns and fighting equipment used by the American forces in the great war.

The work it is carrying on to increase food production and conservation will be illustrated by the department of Agriculture. Models of modern farm buildings will be displayed to show that greater livestock production may be attained through maintenance of up-to-date and sanitary structures. The committee on public information also will have much to exhibit relating to the war.

WAR WORK ACTIVITY

Women's Work For You And Me To "Carry On."

Daily there comes to us the inspiration from women's work in other cities and newspapers and periodicals team with the new and novel things that women are taking up with patriotic self sacrifice.

The Land Army
"As men's souls stir and quicken to the drum and trumpet, the souls of women rise to the plain, every-day service where, as Kipling says, "You simply hang on." And this is what the Women of the Land Army of America are doing; unaccustomed hands are hanging on—hanging on to the love, the pitchfork and the handles of the wheel-barrow. Twenty-two states have organized girls in farm units controlled by a "house mother," who sends them out by the day.

Emergency Aid Aide
Young people eager to help always touch one's heart, and a unique and picturesque organization is E. A. A. (Emergency Aid Aide) of Philadelphia.

The members are juniors who stand ready to be called "in a pinch." They are regular little minutemen, who run hither and yonder any minor Red Cross, Ambulance Corps, Naval Auxiliary or Food Conservation errands.

Community Kitchens
Something that reaches right out to you, something women are doing for one another, is the home and community kitchen work. Down to the foreign quarters of the great cities, out to the little frame country school houses, to the public halls and church of hamlet and town go the Conservation Demonstrators of the U. S. Food Administration. They show the women how to can, to dry, to save and use wheat and to make a better use of milk.

Volunteer Factory Service
"The factory has taken women's work away from her," and now here is the war, and woman taking her work of mercy into the factory. The American Red Cross Volunteer Factory Service No. 1 in Philadelphia turns out many times as many garments as the women could by working at home. Refugee garments by the thousands are made, and many a woman who has been in the habit of letting the world work for her now sits all day at the factory table working for the world.

Sailors stationed in Philadelphia lend a hand when they can. Urge your city to follow Philadelphia's lead. If you can't do it just this way do it the next best way—but do it!

The Motor Army
The Motor Army is gaining recruits from far and wide. Women are rushing to the colors as truly as men—from New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Baltimore, Washington, and other southern cities comes the news of motor organizations. The Woman's Motor Corps of America, including uniformed expert motor drivers and mechanics all over the country, has been officially recognized by the Army Medical Department.

The Home Defense Corps of the State of N. Y. has 2,000 women in its newly organized Ambulance Corps. These women drivers have chauffeurs' licenses, wear a uniform, and are proficient in drill—they have to be, in order to belong.

BURBANK OFFERS ANOTHER WHEAT

Santa Rosa, Cal., July 6.—Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, has a new variety of wheat which he says will revolutionize the farm industry.

It is not the super-wheat he created soon after America entered the war, but a distinct variety that will produce 50 bushels to the acre that formerly produced only 12, and is rich in nutritive value.

"Corn is not a wheat substitute," Burbank says in his announcement.

"I have given my time with patriotic intent and recent experiments have crowned by efforts with success."

COBB WILL CLOSE CHAUTAUQUA WITH STARTLING STORY

Journalist Who Skimmed Cream From World War, But Recently Home From Battle Front, Will Appear Sunday Evening—Ben Greet Players Prove Royal Treat.

The Washington Chautauqua will come to a close Sunday night with the appearance of Irvin S. Cobb, world's foremost war correspondent and humorist who recently returned from the battle front, and was "at the front of the front" during Germany's great drive a few weeks ago.

He will speak on "My Recent Experiences on the Fighting Front in France and Flanders." It is expected that the largest crowd ever assembled in this city for chautauqua will hear the noted journalist. The Castle Court Singers give the evening prelude and will furnish the entertainment in the afternoon.

Secretary Woodmansee announces that reserved seats for season ticket holders will be held, as promised, until eight o'clock Sunday night, 1100 seats to be roped off for this purpose. No reserved seats will be held after eight o'clock, and holders of season tickets are requested by the management to not wait until the last minute before claiming the seats. Season tickets will be presented at the gate, and to the ushers, who will conduct the bearer to a reserved seat.

Friday night the big tent was packed with an audience which was thoroughly delighted with the Ben Greet Players in their clever presentation of the Shakespearean play, "The Comedy of Errors."

The cast was one of exceptional strength and the costuming was excellent. It was an evening's pleasure that long will be remembered by the large number who witnessed the production of one of Shakespeare's best known plays.

SHIPS THAT WILL WIN

They're launching 'em in Oregon;
they're launching 'em in Maine.
They're launching 'em along the Jersey shore;
Every State that fronts the tide lets a couple of 'em slide
Every day or two, and starts a dozen more.
A million men are digging ore, a million smelting steel;
Another million working at the ways.
And the viveters are banging and the heavy hammers clanging
On the rivers and the harbors and the bays.
They're building 'em of timber;
they're building 'em of steel,
They're moulding 'em of concrete made of sand;
And they'll all be strong and staunch when they're got in shape to launch
And all ready for the business that's at hand
They soon will dot the ocean like the foam fleckles in a storm.
And they're going to go ahead and carry on,
Till the great big job is done and the great big war is won.
And the Kaiser and von Hindenburg are gone.
They'll find the men to man 'em every-where that Yankees are.
Good husky lads who love a stand-up fight.
And the baffled submarines will depart for safer scenes.
When confronted with their majesty and might.
They'll bridge the broad Atlantic with a bow-to-stern pontoon.
And the Teuton gang can read its own defeat
In the steady hammer, hammer and the clangor and the clamor
That is turning out the mighty Yankee fleet.
—By James J. Montague.

To The End

Standing in the shadow of George Washington's tomb under the spreading branches of the beautiful oaks at Mt. Vernon on July 4th, addressing American citizens, representing thirty nationalities, President Wilson again, in emphatic words directed to the civilized world, pledged the might of America to the work of liberating oppressed people and crushing forever the military autocracy.
Again the President made it clear that there could be no compromise, that the present struggle must be continued until victory made the settlement of the tremendous issues involved, final.
There must be, after this war, no foes who can, allowed to remain in the high places of any nation, secretly plot against the peace of the world. The world has grown too small, people have become too enlightened to permit men who are actuated by the base ambitions of medieval conquerors to direct the destinies of people who are or should be free.
The great democracies of the world, Great Britain, France and America, have pledged every treasure and every drop of blood to fight on until the principles for which Washington and LaFayette struggled throughout the dark days of the revolution are adopted and made safe everywhere.

The "Good Fellow"

Not so very many years ago, before the number of saloons had been so markedly reduced and before the necessities of war required a reduction in the quantity and quality of alcoholic beverages, we attributed the failure which many likable men made in life to the saloon.
And that was true, too. The open saloons did do a vast deal of harm. There was no excuse and there is no excuse for the open saloon. They did change, and they are yet, unfortunately, changing many promising men into just no account "good fellows."
However, we still have, even in dry territory, men without ambition, without purpose in life, men who just live and exist. They are no harm to anyone particularly and no good either—mere negligible quantities—human nonentities.
Just how an able-bodied man can spend the best years of his life, allowing his golden opportunities to pass by ungrasped, who has even no open saloon to which to attribute his failure is one of the inexplicable things of life.
Man endowed with a healthy body and ordinary intelligence can do so much for himself and for others that the contentment with which some men can sit idle while the big procession of life marches by on its tremendous mission is beyond explanation.
Life—real active life—is an adventure of such immeasurable possibilities that it is inconceivable that a normal man can be content not to embark on the real voyage of life.
The work or fight order is going to start many young men out on a career of work but that even is not going to save the men who have already spent thirty-one years doing nothing worth while.

Control Of Telegraph

Government acquisition of the telegraph and telephone lines of the nation and the passing of those very essential means of communication from private to public control, at least for the duration of the war, seems a very probable development of the near future.
The action has been hastened by the threatened strike of telegraph operators and the padding of business by telegraph company managers.
There is no doubt the telegraph and telephone lines are among the most important arteries in the national body, during times of war especially, and their operation to full capacity must at all times be assured.
Whether the telegraph and telephone lines once "taken over" by the government will ever return to private ownership after the present emergency passes, is a question. In times of peace operation of the methods of communication as well as transportation must be guaranteed at all times. The commerce which is to follow the war must be finally freed of the menace of paralysis certain to occur if strikes on the railroads or among the telegraphers is possible.
The war is teaching us, among other things, that there are certain vital utilities which must be secured to the people and not permitted to be made the means of extortion. Too much depends on those utilities to allow them to remain in private hands, a temptation to and opportunity for the gratification of greed.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, July 6.—Congress settled today the long standing controversy over the government guarantee price of wheat by approving a price of $2.40 as a substitute for $2.50 as contended for by the senate. The senate accepted without debate the substitute and sent the measure to President for his signature.

TO REARRANGE BRITISH COINAGE

(Associated Press Correspondence)
London, June 31.—A decimal coinage bill, providing for a rearrangement of the British money system on a decimal basis, has been introduced in the House of Lords by Lord Southwark. The bill is the result of conferences between two great business organizations, the Institute of Bankers and the Associated Chambers of Commerce. Both organizations gave their support to the scheme by a unanimous vote.
The bill provides for the continuance of the sovereign and the florin, the latter being one-tenth of the sovereign or found. A new coin, one-hundredth of a pound, will make its appearance, being practically equivalent to American nickel. The new farthing will be worth slightly less than the present farthing, being exactly one-thousandth of a pound. Five farthings will make up the new penny.

NORMA TALMADGE STARS AT COLONIAL

"Ghosts of Yesterday," adapted from "Two Women," by Rupert Hughes and featuring Norma Talmadge, will be shown at the Colonial Theater tonight. It depicts the change of heart of a fast-living cabaret singer through the influence of a true love which comes to her as she poses for the completion of the portrait of an artist's dead wife. She feels, however, that he does not care for her and so she returns in her pride to the gay life of the Bal Tabarin, where she queened of yore, after slashing into shreds the painting which she thinks stands between them.

Her departure brings the artist to realize his love for her too, and he follows her to Paris, where he recovers her from the empty life of its gayest set. Although he loses his eyesight from a wound received in the scrimmage at the Tabarin, when he comes for her, he finds the greatest treasure which every man seeks—a true helpmate, a wife to cheer and inspire the rest of his life.

10 TO 30 BUSHEL PER ACRE IS THE YIELD OF WHEAT

Local Grain Dealer Says Wheat Is of Better Quality Than Last Year and the Yields Are Exceptionally Good—Far Better Tests of First Grain—Price Is $2.10.

With wheat threshing now becoming general in the county, a very definite idea of the yield of wheat this season is now obtainable, and so far the yields have run all the way from a small field making only 10 bushels to the acre to a 30-bushel yield reported by Cass Hidy, near Eber. Up in the twenties is a common yield this year, it is announced.

The quality of the wheat, according to a local grain dealer, is much better than the first wheat received last year, the grain being more solid, and testing as high as 62 pounds to the bushel.

Last year the tests showed 18 and 19 percent of moisture, and this year the first wheat received is showing even lower than 13 percent per bushel. The price being paid is $2.10 per bushel.

The grain is not quite so large as the average grain last year, but is firm and contains comparatively little moisture, and invariably the wheat is free from cheat and other foreign substances.

In all parts of the county active preparations for a busy threshing period next week are under way, and already a dozen machines are in operation at various points in the county. Next week, with the weather favorable, every machine in the county will be actively engaged in shelling out the golden store of grain.

Fred Hamn's yield averaged about 25 bushels per acre. Other yields are running 20 to 25 bushels, with indications that there will be a large number of fields producing 30 bushels to the acre, or even more.

FOUR MORE FORDSON TRACTORS OBTAINED

CAPT. CALDWELL IS RECOVERING IN BASE HOSPITAL

Commander of Greenfield Company Who Was Gassed Is Well On Road to Recovery--Praises Treatment in Hospital

Captain Don Caldwell, commander of G. Company, who was gassed while on duty in the battle zone in France, is now well on his way to recovery, as indicated by letters written to his wife, from which the following excerpts are taken:

"I suppose that you have noticed that I have been wounded, but all I received was just a little gas. I am in the base hospital now with Lieut. Duncan and two other men from Co. G. We are both feeling O. K. and did not want to come here but had to anyway. It is a very beautiful place here. It was a famous summer resort and our government has rented all the hotels and made hospitals out of them. By reason of rank I have a room by myself, but would rather be with some one to talk to.

"We have been very busy the past week or two and our regiment had quite a number of casualties. The big offensive is still on and I think it will change soon. * * * I have been on liquid diet for 48 hours, eggnog, milk and tea, but could eat a horse right now.

"We were being shelled and our front line was under very heavy fire, when we received orders to form our companies and take up our position. We already had a gas alarm and had put on our masks, but did not smell any so removed mine and called all the men, who were upstairs and not affected. On again going through town I detected a peculiar odor like pineapple, a sweetened smell. (phosgene gas) and put my mask on and it lost one eyepiece out. I immediately changed masks and went on. In a half hour was very sick and vomiting, eyes smarting and lungs burning. The doctor sent me to the hospital and outside of a slight headache I am all right now, not enough to do any harm. Lieut. Duncan is in about the same condition. Don't worry about me because I always was lucky and it still holds good. * * * The company is doing fine and right up on their toes looking for Germans. We did not lose a man the last time in the trenches, which we are mighty thankful for. I suppose I will be here for four or five days yet.

"DON."

June 8th the Captain writes: "Just completed my very elaborate supper of milk and am quite satisfied, though I am still hungry. "I have been examined very thoroughly today and the doctor said my lungs were affected slightly and that I would have to remain here for some time. I may be able to go down stairs in about two weeks, which is a long time. I feel pretty weak and shaky yet, but that is all. * * * The doctors and nurses here are very kind and do everything they can for us. The nurses are middle-aged here, the younger ones are nearer the front. This place is near the center of France and very beautiful and quiet, at least we don't hear the big guns, which is a relief. * * * There are a lot of Americans here now and all doing their bit in stopping the Germans and are quite successful.

June 12th—"We are allowed to be up a little today and we are mighty glad as it is quite a relief. It is surprising how weak and short winded I feel. Hope to go down to our mess in a few days, but the doctor said we must be very careful and we are not taking any chances. Sergeant Cope came over yesterday to see us. You know he had a broken leg, but is able to use it now."

On June 14th he writes: "The doctor just told me that I could go down to the dining room tomorrow, and am mighty pleased. It is very lonely some and the days are long. * * * Several of the officers were over yesterday to pay us a visit and brought the news from the regiment. We will move over to a new front but don't know where and I hope to be able to go with them.

THE LABOR SUPPLY EXCEEDS DEMAND

Announcement is made by the Free Employment Bureau, which has headquarters in the court house in this city and covers Fayette, Clinton and Pickaway counties, that at the present time the supply of labor exceeds the demand, although for the most part the supply and demand are almost an even break.

However, as late as Friday afternoon when a man from Pike county, who had completed his home work for the present time and was in this city seeking work helping harvest the wheat crop, was placed on the waiting list at the employment office, and it was expected that a place for him would be found within a day or two.

Farmers are urged to place an order for help whenever they need it, and the order will be filled as speedily as the kind of man desired is obtainable, or probably from the waiting list of applicants for work.

MONSTER HAY CROP BEING HARVESTED

In addition to corn plowing, much of which has been completed, and wheat harvest, Fayette county farmers are, and for some little time have been harvesting by far the largest hay crop in recent years.

There will be no shortage of hay in this part of Ohio during the next year as the acreage is unusually large and the crop is almost a bumper one.

Hay has been selling as low as $5 and $6 per ton—a thing almost remarkable when the high price of everything else is taken into consideration.

TWO MEN LOCKED IN VAULT OF BANK

Paul Major, of the Highland County
Bank, Greenfield, and H. H. Limes, jeweler of that place, had an exciting experience one day this week while working with the lock on the safe vault, and were accidentally locked in the vault for some time before they could be released.

When the men stepped inside and pulled the door tight the defective bolt became securely fastened, and resisted the efforts of the men to release it from the inside, and the efforts of companions on the outside.
A number of mechanics were hurriedly called in and attacked the door with sledges and crowbars, jarring the bolt so that it could be unfasten-

The two men were little the worse for their experience, not having been confined a sufficient length of time to consume the air in the limited space.
